Department of Fiqh and Its Principles

About the Department:

The Department of Fiqh and its Principles was established within the College of Sharia at Imam Bukhary University, following Imam Bukhary University's approval by the Ministry of Higher Education in the Republic of Gambia to operate as an accredited private university on January 2, 2025. This department was founded in recognition of the pivotal role of Islamic jurisprudence in organizing the lives of Muslims and the necessity of preparing qualified jurists who combine authenticity with contemporaneity.

The program aims to equip students with profound knowledge of the rulings of Islamic Sharia and its objectives, as well as the principles of deriving rulings, enabling them to understand the Sharia texts and apply them to contemporary issues, and to contribute to the development of a conscious and enlightened Islamic society.

Department Vision:

Leadership and excellence in teaching Fiqh and its fundamentals, and preparing distinguished jurists and researchers who contribute to enriching Islamic jurisprudence and providing Sharia-compliant solutions to contemporary issues at both the local and regional levels.

Department Mission:

To qualify students in the field of Sharia sciences specializing in Fiqh and its principles, through distinguished academic teaching and rigorous scientific research, enabling them to derive Sharia rulings, understand jurisprudential schools of thought, and apply Fiqh to contemporary issues, while preserving the authenticity of Sharia sciences and keeping pace with modern developments, in order to serve the Islamic community.

Objectives of the Department of Jurisprudence and Its Fundamentals:

The Department of Jurisprudence and its Fundamentals at the Faculty of Sharia, Imam Bukhary University, seeks to achieve the following objectives:

1. Enhancing the correct understanding of Islamic jurisprudence and its objectives, and elucidating the principles of deriving Sharia rulings according to the methodology of Ahl al-Sunnah wa al-Jama'ah.
2. Preparing specialized scientific cadres in Fiqh and its principles, capable of addressing contemporary jurisprudential issues and providing legitimate solutions according to a rigorous scientific methodology.
3. Developing a balanced scientific character for students, based on the values of moderation and balance, a deep understanding of the Sharia texts, and the ability to apply them to reality.
4. Developing scientific research skills in the field of Fiqh and its principles, and enabling students to analyze and critically evaluate various jurisprudential opinions according to an objective scientific methodology.

5. Encouraging specialized scientific research in the sciences of Fiqh and its principles, contributing to addressing contemporary issues, and promoting the values of understanding and coexistence in accordance with the principles of Islam.
6. Activating scientific, cultural, and social movement, and directing it in a manner that serves the community, respects religious values, and contributes to achieving the public interest at both local and international levels.
7. Preparing students to undertake scientific, daʿwah, and judicial tasks, such as teaching, issuing fatwas, conducting scientific research, and participating in legal and Sharia institutions.

Criteria for the Selection of Academic Staff:

1. Academic Authenticity: Obtaining academic degrees from recognized universities with a prestigious academic reputation in Sharia sciences.

- 2. Research Output: Possession of an outstanding research record and publications in peer-reviewed scientific journals, especially for applicants for the ranks of Professor and Associate Professor.
- 3. Teaching Experience: Possession of prior experience in university-level teaching, and the ability to utilize modern educational technologies.
- 4. Moderation and Balance: Commitment to the methodology of Ahl al-Sunnah wa al-Jama'ah, and the ability to instill the values of tolerance and moderation in students.

Learning Resources for the Jurisprudence and Its Fundamentals Program:

To achieve the utmost educational and research benefits for the students of the Fiqh and Usul program, the program relies on an integrated and diverse system of learning resources aimed at equipping students with deep knowledge and the necessary skills in their specialization. These resources are distributed as follows:

1. Printed Books and References:

Available Books in the Central Library of Imam Bukhary University: The collection includes a wide range of fundamental books on Islamic jurisprudence across its various schools of thought, books on the principles of jurisprudence, jurisprudential rules, and the objectives of Shariah, in addition to modern references and specialized studies on contemporary jurisprudential issues.

Specialized Libraries: Utilization of libraries belonging to faculty members, as well as public libraries specialized in Islamic sciences.

2. Electronic Resources and Databases:

Electronic resources available in the databases of the digital library at Imam Bukhary University: These resources provide access to thousands of books, articles, and peer-reviewed research in the fields of Fiqh and its principles, through the university's subscriptions to specialized scientific databases.

Peer-Reviewed Scientific Journals: Access to the latest research and studies published in specialized jurisprudence and usul journals, whether through databases or the official websites of the journals.

3. Interactive and Educational Resources:

- Lecture Notes and Visual Presentations: Any lecture notes or visual presentations (PowerPoint Presentations) uploaded by faculty members on the e-learning system of Imam Bukhary University, which include lecture summaries, mind maps, interactive questions, and enrichment materials.

- Recorded Lectures: Recordings of live lectures or pre-prepared video lectures, enabling students to review the educational content at any time and place.

- Discussion Forums: Interactive platforms within the e-learning system that enable students to pose questions, discuss jurisprudential issues, and exchange opinions under the supervision of faculty members.

4. Specialized Websites:

- Reliable academic websites: Websites of major legitimate scientific institutions, reputable fatwa centers, and jurisprudential councils that provide fatwas, research, and specialized articles in jurisprudence and its principles.
- Personal websites of scholars and researchers: Utilizing the scientific content provided by leading scholars and specialized researchers in Fiqh and its principles through their personal websites or their trusted educational channels.
- Academic Research Gateways: For accessing academic research and studies in the field of Jurisprudence and its Principles.

5. Internally Produced Educational Materials:

- Authored and Translated Textbooks: The books and publications produced by the faculty members of the department, whether original authorship or translations of important references, which reflect the academic and research expertise of the department and directly meet the needs of the students.
- Applied Studies and Exercises: Educational materials specifically designed to train students in applying jurisprudential and fundamental principles to contemporary real-life issues and emerging cases.

This integrated system of resources ensures that students receive comprehensive and up-to-date education, enabling them to build a strong knowledge base and advanced research skills in the specialization of Fiqh and its Principles.

Admission and Student Support

The Department of Fiqh and its Fundamentals places great emphasis on the student's academic and personal journey from the moment of application for admission to the program until graduation. The admission and student support system aims to attract promising talents and provide a stimulating and inclusive educational environment that ensures students' success and excellence through a comprehensive set of requirements, programs, and services.

First: Admission Requirements for Students in the Department of Jurisprudence and Its Fundamentals

To ensure the recruitment of qualified students capable of comprehending the study requirements in the field of Fiqh and its Fundamentals, the department establishes a set of admission conditions and criteria, as follows:

1. Legal Age: The applicant must be at least 18 years old at the commencement of studies.
2. Admission Examinations: Passing the written and oral admission examinations conducted by the department, which aim to assess the student's comprehension of fundamental Islamic jurisprudential concepts as well as their linguistic and intellectual abilities.

3. Academic Qualification: Obtaining a General Secondary Education Certificate or its equivalent, accompanied by the submission of a transcript demonstrating that the student has achieved at least a good grade in the following core subjects:

- The Holy Quran.
- Jurisprudence and Its Fundamentals.
- Arabic Language (Grammar and Morphology).

4. Criminal Record: Submission of a certificate of no criminal record from the competent authorities to ensure the student's adherence to ethical and societal values.

5. Health Fitness: Obtaining a medical certificate proving the student's health fitness for university study.

6. Personal Documents: Submit two recent passport-sized photographs, along with the birth certificate, and the passport or national identity card.

7. Commitment to Compliance: Signing a written pledge to adhere to the standards, rules, and general values promoted by Imam Bukhary University both within and outside the campus, reflecting discipline and mutual respect.

8. Registration Fees: Payment of the prescribed registration fees at Ecobank, and submission of the payment receipt to Imam Bukhary University for verification of the completion of the process.

Secondly: Orientation and Preparation Programs for New Students:

The department is keen to provide a welcoming and supportive environment for new students through comprehensive orientation and preparation programs held at the beginning of each semester, which include:

1. Reception Ceremony: Organizing a reception ceremony for new students, aimed at introducing them to Imam Bukhary University and the department, and facilitating their integration into university life.

2. Introduction to Regulations and Policies: Providing detailed orientation sessions on the academic and administrative regulations and policies of the university and the department, the courses, classrooms, the central library, and all available facilities and services.

Third: Counseling Services (Academic, Career, Psychological, Social):

The department offers a comprehensive range of counseling services to support students in various aspects of their academic and personal lives, as follows:

1. Guidance Manual: Providing each student with a comprehensive guidance manual covering student activities, regulations and policies, and available services, to serve as a reference for the student throughout their period of study.

2. Academic Advisor: Appointment of a faculty member as an academic advisor for a specified number of students from the beginning of the program until graduation. The academic advisor provides support and guidance to the student regarding the study plan, course selection, minors, and academic challenges.

3. Specialized Guidance: Providing advice and assistance to the student regarding the field of specialization, and directing them towards available research and professional opportunities in Fiqh and its principles.

4. Personal and Social Counseling: Receiving students and providing guidance during designated office hours to offer support and advice on personal and social matters that may affect their academic journey, while maintaining complete confidentiality.

Fourth: Special Support:

The department is committed to providing special support for students with diverse needs to ensure they have equal opportunities for success and excellence.

1. Support for Academically Struggling Students: Students who are academically struggling are guided to fulfill the necessary requirements and needs by participating in intensive training courses and workshops to achieve the required levels and skills. Examples include the e-learning course held at the beginning of each semester within the program, in addition to individual or group tutoring sessions.

2. Support for Persons with Disabilities: Special facilities are provided for individuals with physical disabilities, including designated parking spaces, equipped restrooms, and accessible pathways, to ensure an inclusive and accommodating university environment.

3. Gifted and Talented Student Support: The department offers specialized programs to support gifted and talented students, including opportunities to participate in scientific research, conferences, academic competitions, and the provision of scholarships or incentive awards, aimed at developing their abilities and guiding them towards excellence and creativity.

Program Quality Assurance

The Department of Fiqh and its Principles is committed to applying the highest standards of academic and administrative quality to ensure the excellence of its educational and research outcomes. This is achieved through an integrated quality assurance system encompassing all aspects of the program. This system aims at the continuous improvement of performance, meeting the requirements of academic accreditation, and fulfilling the mission of Imam Bukhary University and its strategic objectives.

1. Quality Assurance System in the Program:

The program adopts an internal quality assurance system that complies with national and international higher education standards. This system includes clear mechanisms for quality planning, implementation, monitoring, evaluation, and continuous improvement. This is achieved through:

- Defining Quality Standards: Establishing clear standards for the quality of teaching, curricula, scientific research, student services, and facilities.
- Periodic Review: Conducting periodic reviews of all program components by specialized internal and external committees.
- Feedback: Collecting and analyzing feedback from students, faculty members, graduates, and employers for use in improvement processes.
- Improvement Plans: Developing detailed action plans to address identified weaknesses and enhance strengths through evaluation processes.

2. Quality Control Procedures for Program Courses Taught by Other Academic Departments

To ensure consistency and quality in the courses taught by other departments (such as Arabic language courses, or certain related legal or educational courses), the following procedures are followed in coordination with the heads of the respective departments:

- Systematic Coordination: Holding periodic meetings with department heads and relevant faculty members to review course descriptions, content, teaching methods, and assessment approaches, ensuring their alignment with the objectives of the Fiqh and Usul program.
- Report Exchange: Exchange of academic performance reports of students in these courses, as well as course evaluation reports by students and faculty members.
- Joint Review: Conducting joint reviews of the achieved learning outcomes in these courses and providing recommendations for their improvement when necessary.

3. Procedures Followed to Ensure Equivalence Between the Program's Main Campus and Other Branches (If Any)

In the event that there are other branches of the program or parallel tracks (such as a track designated for male students and another for female students within a single main campus), the department ensures equivalence in the quality of education and the resources available. Since the current program focuses on a single main campus, this point does not directly apply to the existence of independent branches. Nevertheless, equivalence between male and female students at the main campus is ensured through:

- Curriculum Unification: The application of identical study plans and educational curricula for all male and female students.
- Equal Resources: Providing the same educational materials, facilities, and services to all students without discrimination.

- Assessment Criteria: Application of unified and fair assessment standards for all students.

4. Program Plan for Measuring Learning Outcomes at the Program Level:

The program adopts an approved plan for assessing learning outcomes at the course level and subsequently at the overall program level. This plan aims to ensure that students acquire the knowledge, skills, and competencies specified in the program objectives. Learning outcomes are measured through:

- Various Assessment Tools: Utilization of diverse assessment tools such as tests, research projects, presentations, case studies, and practical evaluations.

- Analysis of Results: The outcomes of learning outcomes assessment are analyzed periodically, and the reports are discussed in the Council of the Department of Fiqh and Usul.

- Improvement Decisions: Based on the results of the analysis and discussions, necessary decisions are made to enhance the quality of the courses, develop teaching methods, and optimally utilize the expertise of the faculty members.
